

LOCAL NETTERS HAD GOOD NIGHT

FLEET IN THIS FORENOON WITH ABOUT 13,000 POUNDS OF FISH.

Mackerel netters found fair pickings last night, their receipts being 13,000 pounds of fish. A few of the boats had small hauls, but these were off-set by the larger craft running around a thousand pounds to a craft.

Fresh fish receipts were small, there being but two of the off-shore draggers reporting. One had 45,000 pounds of haddock and the other, which arrived last night, brought 12,000 pounds, both fares going to the General Seafoods corporation.

N. F. Codfish Notes.

There remains a possible month or six weeks for hook and line fishing before an estimate of the season's voyage can be given. The Shore fishery from present indications will be about 25 per cent short of last year's catch, but the excellent Labrador catch of both Stationers and Floaters will prove a sheet anchor to the grand total. The price of Shore is firm for No. 1 and due to the short catch is reacting on the price of Labrador. Italy and Spain are firm for Shore and Labrador. Greece and Italy will want about 200,000 quintals of Labrador to meet supplies up to next March, but in view of the report that 10,000 quintals of Iceland Labrador was landed in Patras a few weeks ago, with the tendency to cut prices for genuine Labrador, this new development of the export of Iceland Labrador into Greece will be watched with interest. The Oporto market continues in good shape and no fear is being felt that Norwegian will ever supplant Newfoundland cure. Northern Brazil continues to maintain strength but owing to a short supply of shore and trap fish suitable for the market the demand may exceed the supply. In Porto Rico and West Indies consumption continues fair, stocks of large cod are almost nil and those of small and medium rather moderate.—St. John's Trade Review.

Blackbirds at Sea.

The Boston fishing str. Ocean, of the Bay State Fishing Company's fleet, brought word on her arrival at the Fish Pier yesterday of being invaded by a flock of 15 blackbirds Monday on Georges Banks. The spot was about 180 miles southeast from Highland Light, Cape Cod, and the birds had evidently flown from the vicinity of the Cape. Tired from the long flight, they dropped to rest in the rigging, on the rails and on deck, too exhausted apparently to care whether or not they were captured.
